DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 7/1/2009 has been entered.

Acknowledgements

- 1. This office action is in response to the reply filed 7/1/2009 and 3/2/2009.
- Claim 15 was amended.
- Thus, claim 15 is pending for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.
- Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Wu et al (2004/0243156).

The applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application.

Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

5. Wu et al discloses a cutting balloon catheter (Fig 2), comprising: an elongate catheter shaft 12); a balloon (114) coupled to the shaft, the balloon having a first inflated configuration and a second non-inflated configuration (Fig 2-4), wherein the balloon has a plurality of wings formed therein when in the second configuration (Fig 2-4); a metallic cutting blade (16) for severing or breaking up a lesion affixed to the balloon (Fig 2-4; Summary), the cutting blade including means for cutting having two intersecting planes which form a cutting edge, including means for gripping thereon and having a longitudinal axis (16; Fig 2-4), and having a cross-sectional shape that is substantially triangular in a plane traverse to the longitudinal axis (16; Fig 2-4); wherein the means for cutting and means for gripping are defined by a series of undulations (16; Fig 2; wherein the cutting members shown have matching waves as waves 44 on wings 42).

6. Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Shaw et al. (7279002). Shaw et al discloses a cutting balloon catheter (Summary: Fig 12). comprising: an elongate catheter shaft (Fig 12); a balloon (152) coupled to the shaft, the balloon having a first inflated configuration and a second non-inflated configuration (Fig. 25: col 7-8), wherein the balloon has a plurality of wings formed therein when in the second configuration (Fig 25); a metallic cutting blade (104; Fig 3) for severing or breaking up a lesion affixed to the balloon (col 3, Ins 57-col 4; wherein the Examiner notes that the "affixed to the balloon" means that the metallic cutting blade is attached physically to the balloon in some manner -- the cutting blade 104 on stent 100 is attached to the balloon during use), the cutting blade including means for cutting having two intersecting planes which form a cutting edge, including means for gripping thereon and having a longitudinal axis (104; Fig 3, 5), and having a cross-sectional shape that is substantially triangular in a plane traverse to the longitudinal axis (104; Fig 3, 5); wherein the means for cutting and means for gripping are defined by a series of undulations (104; Fig 3) on the cutting blade; and wherein the undulations curve from side-to-side relative to the longitudinal axis (104; Fig 3).

7. Last, the Examiner notes that it would be obvious to use the teaching of undulating cutting members on the stent to modify the cutting members on the balloon under KSR guidelines the modification is a simple substitution (MPEP 2141(III)(B)) of one straight cutting member for an undulating cutting member to obtain predictable results as taught by Shaw, and, the modification would be obvious to try (MPEP 2141(III)(F)) to choose the undulating cutting member and try it out as a replacement for the straight cutting member as it is a choice of a finite number of identified cutting members that achieve a predictable solution with a reasonable expectation of success.

Art Unit: 3767

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 15 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

The Applicant argues that:
